POOLE POTTERY

Since 1873, Poole Pottery has been designed and manufactured in England. From Poole's current home at Middleport Pottery we continue to celebrate ceramic form, design and decoration whilst retaining our belief in traditional manufacture.

These values remain true today and every piece of Poole pottery is designed and hand made in England. Each piece is as unique and individual as the next, with layer upon layer of reactive glaze to create Poole Pottery's signature vibrant and bold decoration. Every item is personalised with the artist's own individual mark, adding to its value.

HOW IT'S MADE

- Every piece of Poole is cast by hand from English earthenware clay.
- The inside of each piece is sprayed with a coloured glaze then fired in the kiln at over 1000°C.
- The signature coloured base glaze is sprayed on by hand and when dry a pattern outline is sometimes drawn on as a guide.
- The design is then painted by hand layering one colour onto another, to create the unique and sometimes dramatic effects Poole is renowned for.
- Once complete each item is fired again and the rich colour palette is created.
- Every Poole piece is supplied in a stylish gift box, perfect for gift-giving and storage.
